SUICIDE THIS MORNING.

Harry Brousseau Takes Life After Struggle.

The village of Middlebury was startled this morning to learn that Harry Brousseau had committed suicide early this morning. About four o'clock he inflicted two deep gashes in his throat with a razor. He was in a delirious condition at the time. His father assisted him to the home of Dr. S. S. Eddy. Dr. Martin was called and every attempt was made to save the life of the unfortunate young man, but he died in about an hour.

Mr. Brousseau was about 25 years of age and lived with his father, Mr. George Brousseau, in Bakery lane. He worked as a painter and had been employed at the Logan House. He is survived by his father, two brothers and four sisters, who live in New York State.

MIDDLEBURY LOSES TO U. V. M.

Middlebury journeyed to Burlington in a special train Monday afternoon to witness one of the two baseball games scheduled with the up-State college this season, and realized at the end of the game that it was not her day. Timely hitting and a remarkably clever infield won the game for U. V. M. by a score of 6 to 1.

The Middlebury forces, 200 strong, including a good part of the college band, left Middlebury on the special train shortly after noon. The game was called at 3.15 on Centennial field, with U. V. M. in the field. Palmer, the U. V. M. twirler, displayed excellent command of delivery, and with the aid of Bell at shortstop, whose fielding ability was continually manifest, and good backing in all parts of the field, the game was easily taken from the visiting team.

The features of the game were the fielding of Bell and Mooney for U. V. M. and Robinson and Bartlett for Middlebury.

Crippen and Garrison, the Middlebury pitchers, were not hit hard, U. V. M. getting five hits, only one more than Middlebury, but the up-State team managed to get their bingles at times when they would count. Bresnahan got a pretty triple for Middlebury in the eighth, with two down, but was still holding the third sack when the side retired. The inning before, Middlebury had four infield grounders in a row, but they were all, save one, within reach of the infielders, and hence did nothing to change the score. In the ninth, Aylward tripled, but again at a time when two were down, and although Christian got a base on balls, the only one Middlebury drew, the next man up, Bullis, who was put in as a pinch hitter, hit one directly into the hands of the pitcher, closing the game.

The other game with U. V. M. is the last of the season, on June 19, here in Middlebury.

NADEAU-LONG.

Miss Madeline Elizabeth Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Long of 255 Clinton avenue, Albany, N. Y., and Norman G. Nadeau of Port Henry were married Tuesday, April 25th at 7.30 at St. Joseph's church Albany, N. Y. The Rev. Father Looney conducted the ceremony and offered a nuptial mass. It was the thirty-third anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary Burns of Amsterdam and James Long, a brother of the bride, was best man. The bride wore a traveling suit of blue silk with hat to match and a corsage bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley and the bridesmaid a suit of blue silk with hat to match and a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas.

After the wedding breakfast at the Hampton hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Nadeau left for New York and southern points, and upon their return will reside in Port Henry. Monday night Mrs. Nadeau was given a farewell dinner by her brother, George Long, at Keeler's hotel in honor of her approaching marriage. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nadeau, Miss Mary Burns of Amsterdam, Miss Noonan, Mr. and Mrs. George Long, sr., John Long, George Long, James Long and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kiernan.

NO DIME SOCIAL.

Mrs. John W. Stewart sends word that the announcement of the Dime Social for the Village Improvement Society made in last week's Register was incorrect. No social is planned at the present time.

COLLEGE FESTIVITIES.

Athletic and Social Events Being Celebrated.

This is Junior Week at the College, an interruption of class room work for a day or two that students may have an opportunity to entertain their friends who are thinking of college for another year. The various events have been very successful. A large number of guests are in town and the fine weather has put every body in good humor.

The debate with the University of Vermont, the Track Meet with the same institution, and the Glee Club Concert have already occurred. This afternoon comes a ball game with Springfield and to-night the Junior Prom. Tomorrow comes another ball game, followed by the great Junior Play in the evening.

MIDDLEBURY DEFEATS U. V. M. IN BIG DEBATE.

In the debate between U. V. M. and Middlebury in the college gymnasium Wednesday night Middlebury won the unanimous decision of the judges.

The presiding officer was President Thomas. The judges were Hon. M. W. Webber, Professor Isaac Thomas, and E. R. Olney, all of Rutland.

The question was: Resolved, that the United States should ask the A B C powers to join her in defining and enforcing the Monroe Doctrine. Vermont upheld the affirmative while Middlebury took the negative. The speakers for Vermont in order were: T. H. Isham, '16, L. A. Woodward, '18 and P. R. Johnson, '16, while those for Middlebury were W. H. Edmunds, '17, J. J. Floyd, '16 and R. H. Buffum, '18. Each was given ten minutes for the first speech, after which there was an intermission with music by the college orchestra, and then each speaker had five minutes for a rebuttal. The affirmative took for their points to prove three—first that we should maintain the Monroe Doctrine, second that the A B C powers could help us, and third that we should ask them to do so. They argued that both the A B C powers and the United States were in danger and that an alliance would be protective, that the alliance would dispel distrust of countries concerned, and that the alliance would be one step ahead in the world peace movement. Mr. Edmunds of the negative showed six ways of accomplishing the same results sought for by the alliance without entering the alliance, thus escaping the dangers which he proved would be imminent should the proposition be carried. Mr. Floyd of the negative entirely convinced the audience by his enthusiasm, logic, and clearness of thought, that the alliance would be dangerous, that the movement would not aid world peace, but that the war in Europe was a direct outgrowth of such an alliance and that the A B C powers were totally unfit to act in such capacity owing to their jealous nature. Mr. Buffum showed clearly that the A B C powers would be no material aid in case the United States was at war with some other nation, owing to the fact that they were unable even to protect their own coast, that if the alliance were entered into and one of the A B C powers were to enter into war, no matter what the cause, the United States would be compelled to enter also, that the alliance would be a defensive one, and then his final masterful stroke, that if the United States should enter the alliance she would be signing her name to an undefined treaty, putting her own head in a noose, by the very question itself, as the Doctrine was to be defined after the alliance was entered, and it might be defined in any way the A B C powers should choose, owing to the fact that they would outvote the United States by three votes to one in the alliance.

After the rebuttals, several of which were warmly delivered, the written decisions of the judges were collected, during which time Dr. Thomas spoke of the merits of inter-collegiate debates and the good to be gained from them. On opening the decisions it was found that they were unanimously in favor of the negative, giving Middlebury the decision, 3-0.

TRACK MEET.

A large crowd of spectators witnessed the second victory of the week over the up-State college, U. V. M., Thursday afternoon, when the Middlebury track team defeated that of U. V. M. by a score of 72-54. The records of the Middlebury team in practice have sounded good this season, and yesterday the boys came across with even better records, proving their ability. It was a fine day for the meet, and with the college band again on the job, the athletic field was as attractive as ever. Several records were broken. The events:

100 yd dash—1st, Lee of Middlebury; 2nd, Thomas of U. V. M.; 3d, Bolster of U. V. M. Time, 10 1-5. Score, Middlebury 5, U. V. M. 4.
